- All students are reminded not to attend school and to get a COVID-19 test if they have symptoms or have been instructed to do so by NSW Health. They should contact the school to organise alternative arrangements while they wait for their test result.
- Students should not attend school if they have a person who is unwell from their household. They can return to school once the household member has been tested and returned a negative result or unless otherwise directed by NSW Health.
- Students should not attend school if they or someone in their household has been identified as a close contact of a COVID-19 case. They must notify the school and follow the directions from NSW Health, which may include getting a COVID-19 test; isolating from the close contact; self-isolating for 14 days.
